LONDON (AP) — The U.S. delegation to Sir Winston Churchill's funeral paid him homage today at Westminster Hall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk led the Americans. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was expected to visit the bier late in the afternoon.

The American delegation stood in silence for five minutes before the flag-draped coffin.

In addition to Rusk, the American mourners included: V. Averell Harriman, former ambassador in London and Moscow and a friend of Churchill; Chief Justice Earl Warren whom some reporters mistook for Eisenhower, and U.S. Ambassador David Bruce.

An official at the U.S. Embassy said Eisenhower did not go to Westminster Hall with the American delegation because he is a private guest of the Churchill family.

At the other end of London, the Duke of Norfolk directed a final rehearsal at St. Paul's Cathedral for Sir Winston's funeral Saturday.

The Duke, Britain's Earl Marshal in charge of arrangements for the state funeral, said: "I think it has gone well."

The line of mourners moved silently through Westminster Hall. Many paused for a few moments beside the catafalque.

Early in the day the number of mourners reached 200,000.

Of the 133 nations invited to send representatives to the state funeral, only one nation had declined — Communist China. Another Communist country, Mongolia, said its ambassador, who lives in Warsaw, was ill but may yet attend.

At least six monarchs, four presidents and 14 prime ministers were expected to be among the vast throng of international figures who will join more than a million others in Britain's largest funeral since that of King George VI in 1952.

The governments of 17 British colonial territories or protectorates will also be represented in the procession.

Gen. McDonald Asks Dismissal Of Ouster Case

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's office and state attorneys have to clear one legal hurdle before proceeding with a hearing for Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, suspended adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard.

McDonald filed a motion with Romney Thursday to drop the proceedings against him that stemmed from an auditor general's disclosure of land, liquor and money irregularities.

Robert Danhof, legal aide to Romney, said some action would have to be taken on the motion. Assistant state attorney Russell Searle, assigned to the case, probably will have to file an answer, he said.

Thomas McCallister, attorney for McDonald, asked that Romney hear the motion Feb. 3 "or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard." A hearing on the suspension of McDonald and of Brig. Gen. Carson Niefert, suspended quartermaster general, is scheduled for Feb. 15.

The motion says Romney illegally removed McDonald last Oct. 8, adding that on Nov. 6 "you (Romney) admitted you had no authority to remove McDonald from office."

On that day Romney reinstated the two generals, who were immediately suspended by Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, chief of staff, pending the outcome of the hearing.

Still Fishing At Age Of 97

LANSING (AP)—Who is Michigan's oldest active licensed fisherman?

The Conservation Department now gives the honor to sprightly Arthur Sprague of rural Harrison, who is going ice fishing again this year as his 97th birthday approaches.

Tanker Meteor Trapped In Ice At Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Efforts to free the Chicago fuel tanker, Meteor, from ice which has trapped it in the harbor here since Wednesday night were to resume today.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter, Woodbine, tried for six hours Thursday without success.

Spokesmen reported that the cutter was able to maneuver about the harbor but the snowball ice closed in almost as fast as breaks were made in it.

The Meteor, empty and outbound, was trapped about 50 yards west of the Coast Guard station and some 20 yards off the north pier. Strong north and northwest winds drove the ice into the harbor.

Senate Debates Action To Aid Depressed Areas

Swainson May Keep National Committee Job

LANSING (AP)—Former Gov. John Swainson says — perhaps with tongue in cheek — that he may keep his Democratic national committeeman seat even after he's elected a Wayne County Circuit Court judge.

Swainson is unopposed for the judgeship in the April 5 election. Since declaring his candidacy for the bench, he's steadily put off saying when he'd resign his committeeman post. Judicial protocol frowns on a judge simultaneously holding such a blatantly political job.

Swainson, asked Thursday as he visited the State Senate if he'd picked a resignation date, remarked:

"The public knew I was a committeeman when I decided to run. Nobody ran against me. Doesn't that mean I can stay on as a committeeman?"

In a couple of digs at Republican Gov. George Romney, the man who unseated him in 1962, Swainson said:

"After all, the constitution passed by only 7,000 votes — but that meant everybody accepted everything that was in it."

"And I'm all for citizen participation—staying on the committee would be a citizen participating."

Romney led the drive for the 1963 Constitution and consistently calls for more citizen participation in problems of government.

A long list of Democrats—including former Congressmen Neil Staebler—have indicated an interest in the committee-man job — assuming Swainson does resign.

New Attorney General Knows Plight Of Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who has vowed a "war on poverty," has chosen for his attorney general a man who avows deep concern with the law's impact on the poor.

Nicholas deBelleville Katzenbach, 43, nominated for the post Thursday, may be expected to react vigorously and firmly to violations of civil rights, criminal and antitrust laws.

But associates who know him best say Katzenbach hopes to do more — to initiate as well as enforce. And the brunt of his initiative, they predict, will be thrown into a campaign to balance the scales of justice on behalf of the nation's poor.

Waited 147 Days

With his predecessor, Robert F. Kennedy, Katzenbach was a guiding force in establishing the office of criminal justice within the department. Its aim is to ensure, as Kennedy put it, that the department is "more than a department of prosecution and is, in fact, a Department of Justice."

Thus, lawyers of the fledgling office of criminal justice heaved a sigh of relief Thursday when Katzenbach's selection was announced 147 days after he became acting attorney general. Katzenbach has taken a keen

Missile Scores Fifth Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest strategic missile, Minuteman 2, has registered its fifth successful test flight.

One of the pushbutton weapons darted out of an underground silo Thursday night and hurled its warhead to a target area 4,000 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. It was the first short-range test for the missile, previously shot over 5,000-mile courses.

Bill Speeded On Filling Vice President Vacancy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast congressional action appears certain on a constitutional amendment urged by President Johnson to deal with the problems of presidential disability and vice-presidential vacancies.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee had scheduled a hearing on it for today even before Johnson's special message was sent to the Capitol late Thursday. And the House Judiciary Committee has arranged for hearings starting Feb. 9.

The proposed amendment was introduced in the Senate early this month by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., with 75 other senators as cosponsors. And in the House it is being sponsored by the chairman and top GOP member of the Judiciary Committee.

Appointment By President

One part provides that if a vacancy occurs in the office of vice president it shall be filled by presidential appointment subject to the approval of a majority in both the Senate and the House.

The other part of the proposed amendment establishes procedures under which the vice president would take over as acting president in case the president is unable to discharge the duties of his office.

The Senate approved the amendment by a 65-0 vote last Sept. 29, but no action was taken by the House before Congress adjourned.

Johnson told Congress it was astonishing that since the adoption of the Constitution in 1789 "we have neither perfected the provisions for orderly continuity in the executive direction of our system nor, as yet, paid the price our continuing inaction so clearly invites and so recklessly risks."

Electoral Change Proposed

The President also called for interest in its operation and demands frequent reports on its progress in such fields as bail, pretrial publicity, legal counsel for the poor and wire tapping.

But his concern goes beyond the plight of the poor who have been accused of crimes. His remarks to a recent conference considering the subject bear new relevance as he assumes the nation's top legal post:

New Area Of Concern

"There are large numbers of poor people, for example, who discovered they have a binding obligation to pay a finance company for a TV set that never worked. There are large numbers whose public assistance is reduced or revoked — who have no concept of their rights of appeal."

"These are the people on whose behalf President Johnson has undertaken the war against poverty. These are the people

Lawmaker Seeks Cut In Michigan Nuisance Taxes

LANSING (AP)—A democratic legislator wants to cut back one of the so-called "nuisance taxes" that helped bail Michigan out of its financial crisis and put it deeply in the black.

Rep. William Boos, D-Saginaw, introduced a bill Thursday to cut the state beer tax from $6.61 a barrel, or two cents on every 12 ounces, to $2.50.

The levy, part of a package of nuisance taxes enacted in 1932, yields from $35 million to $45 million a year.

"The beer industry," Boos said, "has contributed more to its share to Michigan's economic recovery and it is time that the tax be reduced to something nearer to levies in neighboring states."

whose problems constitute the new area of public concern — indeed the new area of law with which we are dealing."

It is in this field, one top aide said Thursday, that Katzenbach will attempt to leave his mark as the nation's 65th attorney general.

Lake Superior Down 3 Inches

DETROIT (AP)—The level of Lake Superior is three inches below last month and is expected to drop another four inches during the next 30 days.

The survey said the level of Lake Superior was 600.10 feet, 17 inches above the all-time low for this date recorded in 1926 and three inches above a year ago. The all-time high for the lake for this date of 614.10 feet was recorded in 1952.

The Lake Michigan level was 575.45 feet, the same as the previous all-time low for this date recorded in 1964, and the same as last month. It was expected to remain about the same for the next 30 days.

Lake Huron's level was 575.45 feet. The level was the same as last month, the same as the previous all-time low for this date set in 1964. It was expected to remain about the same for the next 30 days.

Immigrant Held For Killing And Plane Sabotage

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Harry W. Hubach, accused by police here of killing a guard and dynamiting three Detroit-bound U.S. Air Force planes, could face the death penalty if convicted of murder.

Hubach, 36, a German immigrant, was tracked down by police dogs Thursday shortly after the bound and gagged body of Trenton J. Richardson, 48, was found at an airport. He had been shot in the head with a rifle.

Police still could offer no reason for the sabotage of the three RF-84F Thunderflash reconnaissance jets, which had arrived here from the Far East to be overhauled before joining Air National Guard units at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport.

The planes, valued at $795,000 each, were all extensively damaged.

Acid Fumes Fatal

WHITEHALL (AP) — Elwyn Lydens, 46, of Whitehall, died in a hospital Thursday after apparently inhaling hydrochloric acid fumes. He had been working with two other men on an acid line leak at the DuPont plant near Montague, authorities said. Spokesmen said Lydens apparently was overcome after accidentally dislodging a mask he wore.

Final Vote Due Monday On Bill For 1.09 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate opens debate today on the $1.09-billion Appalachia aid bill and hopes to take a final vote on it Monday.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had to abandon plans for action on the measure Thursday after the Senate had taken hours longer than expected to complete work on a water pollution control measure.

The two chief sponsors of the Appalachia bill, Sens. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., and John S. Cooper, R-Ky., planned to make their speeches on it today.

They said action might come today on some amendments but that key votes would be Monday.

Additions Ruled Out

An alternative bill introduced Thursday by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of the Public Works Committee, would authorize the President to set up regional commissions to work up development programs for other areas similar to that contained in the Appalachia bill.

Randolph, No. 2 Democrat on the Public Works Committee, said assurances would be given that the committee would go to work promptly on this bill. He said that he believed, with these pledges, amendments seeking to add aid for the Upper Great Lakes region, for the Ozarks and for some other regions would not be attached to the Appalachia bill.

The Appalachia legislation would provide federal funds to build highways and inaugurate a variety of other projects for areas of an 11-state region which has been economically depressed for many years.

Pollution Ban Passed

All of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia would be covered by the aid program.

The water-pollution bill, first major administration-endorsed measure to clear the Senate this year, was passed Thursday by a 68-8 vote and sent to the House after six hours of Debate.

It would authorize larger federal grants to help cities build sewage treatment plants, establish an $80-million research program on better methods of handling sewage, and beef up government procedures for enforcing antipollution measures.

A similar bill cleared the Senate in the last Congress but died in the House. However, Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., who will handle the legislation in the House Public Works Committee this year, said today the panel will go to work on it soon and try to expedite House consideration.

Action Lacking In Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Organization, orientation, the start of an expected bill avalanche and virtually no substantive final action characterized this week in the legislature.

But progress in the Daniel West case — including possible testimony from West himself — and receipt of Gov. George Romney's budget could add spice next week.

The committee investigating whether West should be seated in the House has called a hearing for Tuesday at which West will be allowed to state his case.

West won election to his second term in November but since has been charged with a multitude of income tax irregularities and with assuming a false identity. The Detroit Democrat

Weather Takes Below-Zero Dip In 27 States

By The Associated Press

A massive cold wave enveloped much of the nation today, sending the temperature to zero or below in at least 27 states. Snow, rain and flooding plagued some sections.

Bitter cold arctic air swept out of the North into the nation's midsection. Cold wave warnings stretched from the mid-Mississippi Valley to the northern Appalachians.

The temperature at International Falls dropped to 39 below zero a little warmer than the 38 below Thursday at Ely, also in northern Minnesota.

The mercury hit 3 below in Chicago early today with lower readings in the suburbs. A 2-inch snow fell in the St. Louis area, causing at least two deaths. The temperature in Missouri ranged from -5 to 20.

In Iowa the mercury failed to get above zero Thursday in some sections. Central Kentucky registered an 8-degree temperature after a 2-inch snowfall. An inch of snow fell in Cleveland.

The temperature fell far below zero in parts of New England, swept by gusty northwesterly winds.

West Invited To His Hearing

LANSING (AP) — Rep.-elect Daniel West, D-Detroit, indicted on 117 counts of income tax violations and charged with voting irregularities and forgery, has been invited to a "courtesy hearing" on his seating in the House of Representatives.

House Republicans, meanwhile, stood ready to cry out for more speed. If West is disqualified, said Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, his legislative seat should be on the April 5 special ballot.

"This matter must be settled one way or the other — in the next week to 10 days," he said.

The hearing will be in Lansing Tuesday, said Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, chairman of the committee investigating qualifications of the 54-year-old, would-be second term representative.

"West will be invited to appear, either by himself or with his counsel, to discuss the material the committee has collected which it feels may be pertinent," Kramer said.

Furnace Fixed; Now 6 Children Face The Mumps

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—The Charles Kelly family of Traverse City got the furnace going again but now their six children may be coming down with the mumps.

The Kellys' heating unit broke down Wednesday night. No parts could be found for it in Traverse City or neighboring communities.

The temperature over the last 24 hours has hovered around zero. Finally, a Chicago wholesaler found the necessary parts and shipped them to Traverse City via airplane. The furnace was repaired Thursday afternoon. Then six-year-old Danny—the oldest of the children who just got over the measles—came down with the mumps.

Says Mrs. Kelly of her plight: "I was sure they would fix the furnace but Danny is the first of the kids to have the mumps. Now I know how the pioneers must have felt."

War On Poverty Group Elects Wisti Leader

The Upper Peninsula Committee on Economic Opportunity elected Attorney Andrew Wisti, of Hancock, former Democratic state legislator, as its chairman in its first meeting in the State Office Building Thursday and planned action to obtain federal War on Poverty funds for the U. P.

The meeting was sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress, whose executive director, Dr. Elbert V. Bowden, will head the professional staff which will help Upper Peninsula counties develop economic opportunity projects, for the State Economic Opportunity Office in Detroit to recommend to Washington.

The committee numbers 40 persons selected by Harold Dettman of St. Ignace, chairman of UPACAP, and Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University and co-director of Operation Action-U. P., the Upper Peninsula's other economic development agency.

The committee, with Al Gavoda, Hancock, of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, as acting chairman, chose Eric Bourdo, director of Michigan Tech's Ford Forestry Center at Alberta as vice-chairman, Mrs. Michael DeFanti of Marquette, as secretary, and Rev. Fr. Louis Cappel of Ramsey and Probate Judge Robert Payant of Iron Mountain, trustees.

UPCAP has asked the Economic Opportunity Office for funds to provide several persons to work with local government in the U. P. developing projects. The Upper Peninsula expects to be allotted about a half million dollars of Michigan's prospect of about $10 million in federal funds to fight poverty and is now in the process of organizing for the campaign.

The creation of the U. P. Committee was recommended by Malcolm Lovell, director of the Michigan Economic Opportunity Office in Detroit. It has been viewed by some critics as a device to get the heat off politicians charged with results in the anti-poverty campaign, but Prentiss M. Brown, Jr., of St. Ignace, a member of the committee, said that if it were well organized and active it should be very useful. "After all," he said "it isn't as though we didn't have any poverty."

M. B. Conboy, executive director of the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion, said that local governments should not discourage federal projects for economic development or reduction of poverty but should plan their participation in them that they receive maximum benefits for their investments.

U. P. Projects Only one War on Poverty project has been approved for the U. P., the creation of the Job Corps Center in the Ottawa National Forest. Economic Opportunity Act grants to U. P. institutions include $41,000 to Michigan Tech and $2,000 to Gogebic Community College.

As the U. P. counties move into action with projects to aid their impoverished there seems to be general planning to use the county planning commissions of the Area Redevelopment Administration program to plan anti-poverty projects. Gogebic County, hard hit by iron mine industry collapse, is the first county to plunge. It has sent 12 projects to the Detroit and Washington OEO offices.

The proposed Gogebic project include: A work experience project to train tourist booth staffers; bus rental to train a recreational counselor by taking underprivileged children to swim or skate; city park training of forest management aides; training of poor women in home management to create a teaching staff to train others, etc. Gogebic school administrators will meet soon to propose educational projects.

Committee Functions Suggested functions of the U. P. Committee, said Dr. Bowden, include: Member contacts with local committees to prepare projects; pushing allocation of funds for U. P. projects; screening of projects to aid high priority status for urgent or promising projects; facilitating U. P. project applications.

Members of the committee include: Ivan Brown, Judge Robert Payant, Abbott Fox and Bruce Guild, Iron Mountain; Ray Brissom, Mike Pellegrini, Norway; E. Burr Sherwood, Crystal Falls; Charles Santini, Mrs. Anthony Rigoni, Ironwood; Fr. Louis Cappel, Ramsey; Richard C. Cole, White Pine; Mrs. Lawrence Walsh, Mrs. Stanley Smydra, Ontonagon.

Al Gavoda, Hancock; Russell Hoyer, Houghton; Peter Baudino, Calumet; Andrew Wisti, Chassell; Arne Ervasti, Laurium; George Falk, Skanee; Eric Bourdo, Alberta.

Miss Janet Kennedy, William Wilson, Mrs. Michael DeFanti, Marquette; Stanley Corneliussen, Rev. John Duncan, Ishpeming; Ernest Ronn, Negaunee; Leo Gariepy, Stanley Whitman, Munising; Herman Cameron, Brimley; Ed Wuehle, Manistique; Robert Sayles, Newberry; Lindsley Frenette, Gulliver; Richard Burnett, Sault Ste. Marie; Prentiss M. Brown, Jr., St. Ignace; Dr. E. V. Bowden, Albert Halci, Mike Miketnac, Jean Worth, Escanaba; Herbert Corey, Stephenson.

Skiers Flood Special Train IRON MOUNTAIN—A 12-car special train, largest in local history, will deposit 420 skiers from the Chicago area here tonight for a weekend of recreation.

The Milwaukee Road special, expected to arrive about midnight, is part of a "package deal" promotion by Ski Tours of America, the Pine Mountain Hotel, the tourist division of the Chamber of Commerce and the railroad.

Chamber of Commerce officials said that every hotel and motel in the area is sold out. Seven special buses from Green Bay will provide skiers with transportation to and from Pine Mountain.

Total price of the excursion is $38.95, including lodging, meals, and the bus service. The train will include dining cars, a three-piece orchestra and a strolling accordionist to keep passengers occupied during the 5½ hour trip from Chicago.

The 420-skiers from the train are expected to increase weekend traffic on the Pine Mountain slopes to about 1,500.

Delta GOP For Sweetheart Elly As Chairman

Delta County Republicans in convention Thursday night elected as delegates to their state convention in Lansing, Feb. 20 County Chairman Atty. Arthur A. Neiman, 1514 10th Ave. S.; Harold Vanlerberghe, 504 S. 11th St.; Allen Salmi, Rock; Mrs. Carl Olson, 619 Minneapolis Ave., Gladstone; Roy Jensen, 2310 Lake Shore Drive; and Atty. Robert Hansley, 1301 8th Ave. S.

Elected alternates were John Walbridge, former county GOP chairman, 215 S. 6th St.; Mrs. Harold Vanlerberghe; Mrs. Robert Hansley; Alcott Erickson, 703 Dakota Ave., Gladstone; Mrs. Russell Lee, 1522 S. 13th St.; and William Westlund, Rock.

The convention elected Alcott Erickson as chairman and Mrs. John A. O'Brien as secretary.

In a message with undertones of comment on the replacement of State Chairman Arthur Elliott with Elly Peterson, Gov. George Romney sent the convention in the Sherman Hotel a telegram expressing his "conviction that our future depends on our basic Republican philosophy being expressed in government at all levels from township to high national offices. . . . Our Republican philosophy cannot be effectively expressed unless we command the respect of the voting public and win elections. The winning of elections requires broadening and strengthening our party and encouraging all those who are now dedicated to our basic Republican principles to cooperate as never before in programs to that end.

"Such an effort is crippled by excessive emphasis on our differences of viewpoint in the application of our fundamental principles and the recent tendency to accept the new channel designations of 'conservative', 'moderate', and 'liberal.' While such diversity is essential in a vigorous, dynamic party, our agreement on basic principles and objectives should unify us as Republicans without regard to these less important differences of viewpoint. . . . Let's concentrate on identifying our areas of agreement rather than our areas of disagreement. . . ."

The delegates were notified of an 11th District Republican District Committee meeting Saturday at 3 p.m. with all interested Republicans invited.

The 11th District Committee will draft policy before the state convention in Lansing.

The convention adopted a resolution commending Governor Romney for "spectacular recovery" of Michigan in his first administration "from the depths to which it had sunk during the overlong Williams-Swainson tenure and in addition made unprecedented giant steps forward toward solvency and sanity in the management of its governmental functions."

A resolution endorsed Romney's state of the state message for "far sighted vision in challenges facing Michigan which cry out for continued progress such as that provided by Governor Romney and the Republican legislature of 1964-65."

Commented were: "Outlined solutions for wise use of our Republican-provided state surplus, Governor Romney spelling out of a better future for all Michigan citizens and especially young people in need of education; the call for ever greater economic development of our state; concern for those citizens disadvantaged due to economic, social or health reversals.

Elly Peterson, "the sweetheart of the Republican Party," who is Romney's choice for state Republican chairman to succeed retiring Chairman Arthur Elliott, was endorsed for her services to the party and her abilities to perform well as state chairman.

Congressman Gerald Ford, newly elected House minority leader was lauded for his character, GOP nominees were commended, and the services of John T. Walbridge, recently retired Delta County Republican chairman, and Mrs. John A. O'Brien, secretary of the county committee, were commended.

Car Count To Begin On Bay

Little Bay de Noc, already a thriving "city" with hundreds of ice fishing shanties dotting its frozen landscape, Monday will acquire one-way streets.

The Michigan Dept. of Conservation announced plans Friday to mark four pairs of divided access roads to the bay and install mechanical car counters on each road in conjunction with the ice fishing census currently in progress.

The counters will be spotted at each of four fishing access locations on the western shore of Little Bay de Noc, the department said. At each location two one-way roads will be maintained by the department, one leading onto the ice and one coming off.

The department said traffic signs will be used to direct cars along the proper route.

Clifford Long, fish biologist of the Escanaba District Conservation office, said that determination of the total number of fishing hours is an essential part of the census program and appealed to local fishermen to observe traffic markings at the access locations.

He said that during January visual counts were made each hour of the number of fishing cars on the ice and from this an estimate of total fishing hours was made.

In February totals from the car-counters will be compared to visual counts and if results are similar the counters would probably be used in future surveys, thus relieving an officer for other duties, Long said.

HONOR GUESTS at a retirement party for George Marcouiller, Escanaba manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., were members of the family. # Honor Manager On Retirement

George A. Marcouiller, who is retiring as manager of the Escanaba branch of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., was honored at a party attended by about 75 of his friends and associates at the Dells Supper Club Thursday night.

Besides Marcouiller, who has been with Bell for 38 years, the guests of honor for the evening included his wife Connie, two daughters and a son-in-law, a sister Mrs. Robert Trondsen of Menominee, and Dr. Louis P. Groos of Escanaba, a friend of the family.

The daughters are Mrs. William (Mary Lou) Lundin and Miss Michele.

Dorwin Helms, Bell's chief switchman at Escanaba, was master of ceremonies. The program included the presentation to Marcouiller by Jack Agar, general commercial manager, Saginaw; and Vernon Johnston, division commercial staff supervisor of Menominee, presented a memory book.

A grab bag of humorous gifts relating to incidents in Marcouiller's career and activities with Bell was presented by Jack Gerling, Marquette, retired manager. A camera, the gift of friends and associates, was presented to Marcouiller by Harold Olsen, plant engineer at Escanaba.

Michigan Bell representatives here for the event included Jack Farley of Marquette, district commercial manager and Marcouiller's immediate supervisor.

Commercial managers from other Upper Peninsula communities, here to attend a district meeting in the afternoon, were present for the party. They are:

William Ryan, Houghton; Doug Ferguson, Ironwood; Robert Polzin, Marquette; Fred Clark, Iron Mountain and Howard Haight, Sault Ste. Marie.

Maple Syrup Institute At Quinnesec Set

An Upper Peninsula maple syrup institute has been scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16, announces J. L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director. The institute will begin at 9:30 CST and end at 3 p.m. in the Township Hall, Quinnesec, four miles east of Iron Mountain. Maple syrup producers from the Upper Peninsula and from adjoining Wisconsin counties are invited.

Speakers in the morning will include Lynn Reynolds of the Wisconsin Maple Syrup Council, Aniwa, Wis., who will discuss maple products production and marketing trends; Dr. C. O. Willets, Agricultural Research Service, U.S.D.A., Philadelphia, who will discuss technological developments in maple syrup making and Roy E. Skog, forestry specialist of Michigan State University, Marquette. Skog will review sugar bush management for high syrup yields.

Afternoon speakers will include Lester E. Bell, forestry specialist, MSU, and Professor P. W. Robbins, MSU Department of Forestry, both of East Lansing. Ending the program will be a question and answer session conducted by Frank Molinare, MSU Extension director for Dickinson County.

Predict Cold Of 16 Below

Sub-zero cold that blankets most of the northern half of the nation will shove the mercury down to 16 below in Escanaba tonight — with lower readings expected in areas farther inland.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports that it will be fair and cold tonight and Saturday. After the expected -16 degrees tonight and the high on Saturday will not go above 8 degrees. On Saturday the winds will be out of the northeast 8 to 18 miles an hour.

The temperature plummeted to a frigid 17 below early today, the Bureau reported. The high Thursday was 3 above and at 10 a.m. today the temperature in downtown Escanaba was still 14 below zero.

Although the official low reading was 17 below in Escanaba early today, there were unofficial reports of 15 to 24 below in communities around the area. The 24 below report came from Bark River.

Gem Club Now Affiliated With National Group

The Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club of the Escanaba area this week received notification of election to membership in the Midwest Federation of Mineralogical and Geological Societies.

The Midwest federation embraces clubs in the area from Michigan and Ohio in the east to Kansas and Nebraska on the west.

Membership in the Society automatically affiliates the local club with the American Federation of Mineralogical Societies.

The Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club, which was formed in January of 1964, offers membership to anyone interested in promoting the knowledge of minerals, rocks, gems, and the lapidary and related arts and earth sciences.

The Club meets on the third Thursday of each month for educational and fellowship purposes and now has 35 adults and 14 juniors in its membership.

Tax Officers To Meet Feb. 3-4 At Iron Mountain

"Photo Interpretations of Timberlands," "The New Residential Section of the Assessors' Manual," "New Personal Property Forms and Procedure," and "Mining Valuation as Affected by Public Act 290" are some of the topics to be discussed at the 12th annual Upper Peninsula Conference for Tax Assessing Officers, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 3-4, at the Hotel Dickinson, Iron Mountain.

It is expected that 150 or more township supervisors, city assessors, members of boards of review and other township and county officials will attend the conference.

Featured on the program will be members of the State Tax Commission and staff of the Commission and tax officials from the Upper Peninsula.

Judge Ernest Brown of Iron Mountain will preside at the dinner at 6:30 p.m. at which Robert L. Purnell, chairman of the Michigan State Tax Commission, Lansing, will be featured in an address entitled "The Outlook for Improvement of Property Tax Administration."

CCI Gains

The Look Ahead

President Lyndon Johnson is launched auspiciously, it would seem, on his project of a Great Society achieved through a national consensus (agreement) on policy, but famed demographer (statistician on population) Peter Drucker says in February Harper's magazine that this will be the great test of the Johnson administration and that the President isn't likely to get his "era of good feeling."

Drucker proceeds to tell what he thinks America's near future will be like in a prophecy that outlines a revolutionary change for America—the emergence of education—already our largest industry—there are more teachers than any other professional workers—as a huge national political issue. Drucker sees the big city as the great economic problem of the nation; sees the decline and expiration in many places of the counties—they are gone already in Connecticut—and the decline of the labor unions as a political force as a strong, unprecedented new force emerges.

This new force is the nation's young people who are shaping up to assume national political power and probably control in a new pattern of qualifications which are unprecedented in American history. Faced with these huge prospective changes Drucker says "President Johnson may be tempted to maintain a little longer the cozy illusion of an "Era of Good Feeling," but that it can't last because a new power center is about to emerge on the American scene.

The educated young people of the country, says Drucker, who make up the professional, technical and managerial middle class, will force us into new political alignments. This class has no American precedent. For the next 15 years the most rapidly expanding age group will be young adults reaching the voting age. The United States will be the youngest country in the free world by 1970, and its center of political savvy will lie with a generation that knows about the New Deal and World War II only from the history books.

What Drucker calls its "psychological age" will be even younger. One of every three Americans alive in the early 1970s is expected to be in school, a larger percentage than in any other nation. Most of the members of this new young professional, technical and managerial class will expect high opportunities for themselves and even greater ones for their children.

Drucker says they certainly won't be pro-labor and that they'll be highly conservative because they'll be the first "haves" in a long period to become a major new power center. He would expect them to support restriction of labor union influence by bringing them under the anti-trust laws. They will be strongly influenced by their status (most of them) as hired hands and this school-centered society will live in big cities in proportions never known before.

Within a few years nearly two-fifths of the U.S. population will live in or close to the three monster supercities and no influence in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan will be as strong as its relationship to one of them, the one that will stretch from Milwaukee through Chicago and across Lower Michigan to Detroit and Toledo and probably to Cleveland.

Drucker says the big cities are hell-bent on committing suicide and are rapidly becoming unlivable, but they keep growing and will eventually become too big to be maintained by their own resources and will necessarily draw heavily on federal government, as will the schools. And the federal government increasingly will deal directly with the cities and not with the states or with local governments like the counties.

We have only to look about us to see that already much of what Drucker forecasts is starting to happen. This is the year for restructuring of local government so that it represents population instead of townships or wards. It already has happened with representation in the state legislature and the national congress.

Budget Gimmicks

WASHINGTON — (NEA) President Johnson's 1966 budget does not give a true picture of what he proposes to spend.

On the surface, the budget would raise federal expenditures only $2 billion. But actual federal spending likely will increase by nearly $7 billion during the next year, counting supplemental dollar requests Johnson is sending Congress.

Some of this spending shows up in payments from special government funds. Many spending boosts are hidden by gimmicks and by fake decreases.

Some $80 million of one Veterans Administration budget "decrease" is a paper figure achieved by changing the dates on which checks are sent out, so that fewer than usual will be mailed this fiscal year. That doesn't save anything, of course, it merely raises spending in another fiscal year.

Part of the decline in the Department of Agriculture's estimated 1966 farm income stabilization expenditures results from a change in the timing of feed grain acreage diversion payments.

In another place, the budget saves on expenditures by estimating a major decline in the foreclosure of government-owned and government-insured mortgages and by predicting the sale of $600 million or so of government-held mortgages to private investors (but with the government still holding the bag if the homeowners default).

The budget also estimates a strong decline in subsidy payments to farmers. Last year the President underestimated these payments by more than one billion dollars and is now before Congress for $1.1 billion to correct his mistake. (He's asking the new Congress for a total of $6 billion in supplemental 1965 funds).

The 1966 Johnson budget also has a whole series of beginning projects that by their very nature will automatically push spending up in future years. These are what budget men technically call "built-in" increases. To accomplish this, the President is asking Congress to increase his authority to obligate funds by more than $17 billion above what it was in the last Kennedy budget.

President Johnson is asking for a $600 million obligation authority for a kick-off nest egg for his proposed hospital insurance trust fund for the aged, while he lists only $20 million for spending the first year. Payments will rise to more than $1.2 billion a year.

He's also asking for start-up authority to obligate $400 million for his area redevelopment program, but lists only $40 million expenditures for 1966.

He's asking for authority to spend $150 million in grants for basic community facilities in needy cities, but sets aside only $15 million as 1966 expenditures.

The authority to obligate these large amounts for the future would insure sizable spending for years ahead.

Even after the $1.75 billion cut in excise taxes the President is proposing, taxes overall will go up by almost $2.5 billion in fiscal 1966 if his programs go through, largely by increases in social security, hospitalization-for-the-aged, highway and air transportation taxes.

Despite their predictions of a booming economy, with rapid growth in gross national product and in tax collections, the men who put the President's budgets together now look forward to having their first balance budget in the year he runs for re-election.

In the meantime, the presidential advisers expect he will ask Congress for a $5 billion increase in the federal debt limit in fiscal 1966.

"May I Cut In?"

National Scope For Tech Aid?

Govt. Gets Back Its Job Skill Investments

By KENNETH S. LOWE

ALBERTA — Michigan Technological University expects its Ford Forestry Center here to become the national center for the training of forestry workers under the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA).

So far, Tech has conducted, or received approval for, 14 programs under federal grants of more than $1,000,000, most of them in the general field of forestry.

Three of the programs have been for training sawyers, three for lumber graders and two for forestry aides. All have been conducted in this center in Baraga County 40 miles south of Houghton.

Tech's MDTA forestry programs began as projects involving only trainees from Michigan and Wisconsin. It has expanded to a program covering the Lake States and Tech officials believe that, ultimately, all forestry trainees in the United States will receive training here under the MDTA program.

MDTA programs, authorized by Congress in 1962, have been tremendously successful in the Upper Peninsula, where 92 per cent of trainees in all programs have been placed in jobs, according to Dr. Eric Bourdo, director of the Center.

A 100 per cent placement record was achieved among sawyers trained at Alberta and nearly 100 per cent of the lumber graders trained here were placed on jobs. The day after a group of 19 lumber graders graduated, 11 went to work. Among forestry aide trainees, the placement ratio is between 80 and 90 per cent, Dr. Bourdo said.

The Ford Forestry Center is ideal for the training programs. It was once a model sawmill town operated by the Ford Motor Co. The entire village and 1,700 acres of surrounding forested land were given to Tech in 1954 by the Ford Motor Co. Fund. With additional gifts and land acquisitions, there now are more than 3,600 acres containing 10 million board feet of northern hardwoods and hemlock timber stands and more than 10,000 cords of jack pine, aspen and birch pulpwood stands.

Besides serving as a training site for the MDTA program, the center is used as a facility for forestry field instruction for Tech students, as a research forest and as a base for research in forest management and wood utilization.

Included in the Center's research programs are type-of-cutting experiments, studies of relationships between soil and tree growth, tree evaluation, fire studies and forest plant association studies. The facilities have been used cooperatively by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station of the U.S. Forest Service for tree and log classification studies, by the Institute of Paper Chemistry for wood formation studies and by Tech's Institute of Wood Research for timber and sawmill studies.

The physical plant of the Center includes 12 dwellings and four other buildings donated by the Ford Motor Co. Fund, plus three service buildings constructed since the gift by the Fund. The Center's research sawmill also was given to Tech by the Fund.

The Center now has a capacity to house 80 men, but more buildings will have to be erected because, Dr. Bourdo said, Tech expects to have 100 trainees next spring.

The sawyer's program, which involves trainees from Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, was the first MDTA program in the nation set up on an interstate cooperative basis and has received nationwide acclaim as well as inquiries from foreign countries, according to A. R. Howard, director of university relations for Tech.

Its general purpose is to give the trainee a working knowledge of log and lumber grades as well as sufficient manual competence to handle either conventional or automated small sawmills.

The goal of the MDTA is to help alleviate the national unemployment problem by providing workers with new skills in areas with existing or potential shortages of trained personnel. The program is not designed for the so-called "hard core" unemployed, but for the willing worker who has become a victim of automation or improved technology.

All of Tech's MDTA programs provide intensive courses of a technical nature, with students attending classes and laboratory sessions eight hours daily, five days a week. The programs range from 15 to 48 weeks, with enrollment from 20 students per session to as many as 40.

Ken Light, coordinator of technical education for Tech's Division of Continuing Education, says early evaluations of the MDTA programs have been extremely encouraging. They have been found to be less expensive than training undergraduate engineering students in the same period of time.

He said studies have shown the government will collect back in income taxes, within five to 10 years, all of the investment it has made in these men.

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL
Ten Years Ago

Dr. M. H. Garrard, used to an active life, found life very discouraging at the Powers Sanatorium until he received permission from the doctor to spend more time up and about. Down in the San's woodworking shop he spends his allotted time at boat building. He has built two prams for his handicapped patients and is working on a yacht for himself.

At Manistique an attempt to clear part of the quarry pool at Central Park of snow preparatory to ice cutting operations, met with near disaster. The road grader used in the operations proved to be too heavy and it went through the ice. Part of the grader remained above water and a road commission crane hoisted it to safety.

Ann Landers

Henry Is Boring

Dear Ann Landers: I am a college graduate. My husband dropped out of high school in the tenth grade when his father died. I didn't notice the wide intellectual gulf that separated Henry and me until we had been married several months.

Henry's grammar is so bad it is embarrassing. He is not informed on world affairs. When he attempts to discuss politics it is apparent he hasn't read a thing.

The friends Henry brings home from the office are uninformative and shallow. Their wives are stupid and dull. I've abandoned all hope of communicating with them.

What can a wife do when she is starved intellectually? I've met some bright women through my club work but I wouldn't dream of inviting them and their husbands to our home. They'd be bored to death by Henry. Any advice?—ONE WHO TRADED DOWN

Dear Traded: Maybe these dull wives can't distinguish between a Picasso and a hole in the rug but you might pick up some useful hints on how to remove an ink spot from a white damask table cloth.

Satisfy your intellectual appetite in the afternoon, Kiddo. If you were half as smart as you think you are you wouldn't be knocking your husband's limited education. You'd be building him up for doing as well as he has in spite of it. (P.S. He was smart enough to marry you, wasn't he?)

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl with a problem. A few weeks ago we got a dog named Spot. My best girl friend (I will call her Donna) is scared to death of most dogs, and especially Spot.

Yesterday she came to our house and the minute she saw Spot she got panicky. You know, Ann, dogs can tell when people are afraid and it makes them even unfriendlier.

Well, Spot began to growl and Donna ran upstairs and locked herself in the bathroom. She wouldn't come out till I assured her that Spot was in the back room with the door closed.

Today she said if I want to do homework with her I'll have to go to her house. It's no fun over there. Donna doesn't have a room of her own and someone is always sick.

I told her how I felt and she said, "I will come over if you promise to keep Spot in another room." I consider Spot a member of the family and I don't think it's fair to lock him up because of my friend's silliness. Do you agree? — ON THE SPOT

Dear On: NO. A hostess is obliged to make her guests comfortable. It's unfortunate that Donna is afraid of dogs, but since she is, you should keep Spot behind a closed door when she is a guest in your home.

Dear Ann: Our 20-year-old daughter is about to be married. She has a well-paying job but has always spent more money than she made.

I know this girl has a staggering number of unpaid bills for clothes, records, costume jewelry, luggage — anything she could buy on credit. I have asked her four times if her bills are paid, but she lies better than most people tell the truth.

Yes, Ann, I've failed, but it's too late to do anything about that now. What I need to know is should I tell her fiancé that his bride-to-be is in debt up to her neck? Rush the advice. — TOO LATE SMART

Dear Too Late: Under no circumstances should you discuss this matter with the young man. Urge your daughter to tell him, however, and hope that she will. If she springs unpaid bills on her husband after marriage it could get things off to a wobbly start.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MANISTIQUE Democrats Hold Victory Dinner; Honor Leaders

Homer Hilton, Jr., 11th district Congressional Democratic chairman, Wednesday urged more membership building in the party and emphasized the party was the oldest in existence, dating from May 23, 1792.

Hilton spoke at a "victory" dinner sponsored by the Schoolcraft County Democratic committee Wednesday night in the Sportsmen's club. Rep. Raymond F. Clevenger was unable to attend.

The long history of the party, he said, is rooted in the diversity of interests embraced by the party and the foundation of its success has been its efforts to make the voter sovereign. He noted the party has used precedents of the past to meet the needs of the present. Each era leaves something for the next generation to build upon, Hilton observed.

"Get Peace-Quick"
He commented on contrast in the Republican party, "where no great leader has left any lasting mark on party policy. Even Eisenhower was unable to turn his party from the choice of Goldwater," he said. He charged Republicans view government as a mere administrative process.

Warning against what Adlai Stevenson has called "get-peace-quick" schemes, he noted no one can see far enough in the future to know what exactly are the answers in foreign policy. We must accept that we live in a world of danger until we can establish a world rule of law. The goal is distant, but we must never lose sight of it.

Delegates Named
Commending the Schoolcraft organization for its effort in 1964, he tributed the leadership of C. Vern Johnson, chairman.

Hilton is vice president and trust officer of the union national bank in Marquette, is on the Marquette school board and formerly was on the Michigan Tech board of control.

Seventy persons attended the dinner, which included testimonials to Johnson, Mrs. Harold Hughson and the county convention for outstanding service and interest for the Schoolcraft Democratic party. Earl H. LeBrasseur was toastmaster. Gifts were presented Johnson and Mrs. Hughson.

Elected delegates to the convention in Grand Rapids Feb. 13-14 were Leonard Shay, Harold Beaton and Mike Sadler, with Ed Carlson, Norman Nelson and Frank Gierke as alternates. A resolution was adopted supporting fiscal reform.

In charge of arrangements were Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, Mrs. Dean Deloria and Edwin Carlson.

Garden Peninsula and Manistique businesses have placed ads in the Jetstream and also Escanaba firms dealing with the Garden school.

On the staff for compiling yearbook data are: Gary Grenier, mounting of faculty and senior class pictures with informative material; Marcia Pelletier and Jane Tatrow, mounting pictures kindergarten through 11 grades; John Thill, athletic department; Virginia Willet, dedication; Paulette Guertin, opening page; Virginia Willet and Paulette Guertin, advertising and sales; Linda LaVigne and Tom Spaulding, Homecoming activities; Mike Thibault, division pages.

The entire project is under the supervision of Supt. David Harju and adviser, Lenore Tatrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuring and two sons of Manistique visited Sunday at the Bernard Grenier home.

Gail Grenier of Marquette is spending semester vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grenier and will return to Northern Michigan University Sunday.

The Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament, 22 years of age and a lifelong resident of Escanaba, died last week. Born Jan. 20, 1940, the U.P. tournament grew up in the community and gained recognition in the region as an annual sports highlight that drew fighters and fans from throughout the Upper Peninsula, northern Wisconsin and portions of Canada. Death came after a brief illness, caused by lack of interest in the sport in the Peninsula. Surviving are the co-sponsors, the Escanaba Lion Club and the Daily Press, and the Escanaba boxing team which will enter the regional tournament at Fond du Lac Feb. 6.

If the above item sounds like an obituary, that's exactly what is intended. Golden Gloves boxing is dead in the Upper Peninsula, and it's extremely unlikely that it will ever be revived. One after another, boxing centers through the Peninsula closed their doors. Fans here will have no trouble recalling the great teams formerly entered in the U.P. tournaments by such cities as Canadian Soo, American Soo, Marinette, Iron Mountain and in more recent years Manistique and Menominee. At the present there is not a single amateur boxer in any of those communities—at least not any that are active in the sport.

Boxing, particularly the amateur variety, has long been a favorite with spectators. The bouts staged here annually, with a brief time out for a more serious battle during the years of War II, drew large crowds at St. Joe, Junior High and lately the spacious Holy Name gymnasium. Fight fans love the sport for its basic elements of man-to-man combat. Golden Gloves boxers often make up for their lack of ability with sheer courage and determination and spectators eat it up. Professional boxing has earned a black name in the world of sports—but the simon pure amateurs are a different story entirely.

With the Upper Peninsula tournament now a thing of history, let's take a brief walk down the memory lane of cauliflower row. Let's recall some of the outstanding fights, some of the colorful fighters and some of the great performances turned in through the years in the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves rings.

The first boxer ever to win an Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship was Jimmy Anderson of Escanaba who captured the 112 pound novice crown in the first tournament held here in 1940. Some other champions in that initial tournament were Frank Fedula of Bark River, Francis Lancour of Flat Rock and Jack Little, Escanaba open heavyweight.

Some great ones stepped into the Escanaba ring during the old days. Veterans fans will recall the thrilling bouts staged by such standouts as Bud Rossi of Iron Mountain, Ernest (Toots) Passamani of Iron River, Sailor Bedard of Nahma, Johnny Haindle of Cooks, Joey Brunette of Canadian Soo, Len Sharkey of Escanaba.

Some of the earliest Escanaba boxers included Bob Beauchamp, Leonard Gerou, Bob Lind, Glen Erlandson, Leonard Fedrow, Art LaFleur, John Pennings, Jim Shomin. Chet (Tiger) Johnson and Ken Genissee were coaches in those long-ago days.

Manistique provided some of the big names in boxing here during the coaching days of Ed Toyra. Wayne Tuftnell overcame the handicap of a polio-crippled foot and blasted foes out of commission with a TNT-loaded right hand. Francis Selling and Bobby Minor gathered in a string of open division titles for the Manistique team.

Tommy Betts, son of Referee Miles Betts, worked his way through the Escanaba tournament into the Chicago Tournament of Champions and eventually to Michigan State where he earned his college education.

An all-time fistic great from Manistique was Harvard Lancour who held his own with the best amateur featherweights in the world. He swept through Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin tournaments, was stopped by a cut in Chicago and then was honored with a berth on the United States team that toured England and the European continent, coached by the famed Johnny Bairer. Lancour later fought for Michigan State under Coach George Makris, himself a former National Collegiate champion from Rhineclander.

Ron Vanderlinden was the first of a string of Escanaba champions to come along in the 1950s. Others included John Connelly, Ron Magnusson, Jimmy Brown, LeRoy Sovey, Lawrence Elie, the Hytinen brothers of Milwaukee whose dad, Andy, got his start in Trenary.

Regarded by many as the toughest scrapper ever spawned in the Upper Peninsula tournament was Pete Bosanic, one of four battling brothers from Manistique. Pete won six Upper Peninsula crowns, took a National AAU championship and reached the finals in Chicago's national GG tourney before turning pro. He ran up eight straight professional victories and retired after winning the Michigan middleweight championship in 1963.

One of the most sensational fights ever staged here was waged in the 1960 tournament between Bosanic and Sovey for the 160 open championship. A packed house of 2,000 fans leaped to their feet as the two magnificent athletes traded bombs for three solid rounds in which Sovey gained a slim edge.

It isn't often that humor finds its way into a boxing ring. But one bout had fans roaring with laughter some years back. In 1959, veteran John Hruska of Manistique, a 210 pounder, tangled with 230 pound Rod Routhieu of Oconto in an open heavyweight "battle" that ended abruptly when Hruska took a right to the chin and hit the deck with a thud that shook the whole gym. The two giants stirred up enough wind with their wild swings to supply a medium size hurricane.

The list of memorable fighters who have appeared here through the years could fill a book. Some of the best that came to mind at random would include the McCaffery twins, Howard and Harold, Vern Mastaw and Vern Coutant of the American Soo, Kid St. Louis of Canadian Soo, Bud and Don Holmberg, Leo Wood and Warner Ammon of Manistique, Jimmy Izzo of Iron Mountain, Neal, Ted and Sid Beaudou, Bob Zukas, Dick Schomer and Jeff DeGaynor of Menominee and Loren Jones, Dale Juhl and Jim Tardiff of Escanaba.

Texas Coach Irked As Redshirt Wants Pro Grid Contract

By The Associated Press
Darrell Royal and the Southeastern Conference have no love for the American Football League, AFL Commissioner Joe Foss doesn't like redshirting, George Sauer Jr., has no scholarship and Darrell Royal doesn't have George Sauer Jr.

That was the linescore today in the latest installment of what appears to be an endless controversy in present-day football. Moving from secret drafts to double signings to early signings, football has arrived at Sauer, a star pass receiver on Royal's Texas team who has relinquished his college scholarship in anticipation of a professional contract with the New York Jets of the AFL.

Royal is incensed that Sauer, son of Jets' personnel director George Sauer Sr., would pass up his final season of eligibility at Texas to turn pro. Sauer has the 1965 season left — even though his original class graduates in June — because he was redshirted as a sophomore in 1962.

A redshirt is a player who is withheld from varsity competition for one season, usually in his sophomore year, in the hope he can be of more help to his team in his fifth year of school. Sauer declined to say Thursday night whether he will sign a pro contract but did say, "I definitely will not use my fifth year of football eligibility at Texas."

He also said he has moved from his room in the athletic dormitory and has paid his own tuition and fees for the spring semester. He will need only 10 credits after the spring term for graduation as a mathematics major.

Royal doesn't want to lose Sauer. "We've wet nursed him through three years and toughed him up and now just when we're getting ready to capitalize on him, bam, he's gone," the coach said.

But Royal also threatened to bar all AFL personnel from Texas practice fields, dressing rooms and press boxes if the Jets sign Sauer now.

The Jets, incidentally, say they didn't go to Sauer but that he announced his interest in turning pro immediately.

If the pass catcher does go with the Jets, he by no means will be the first collegian to pass up a final year of eligibility. At least eight fellow redshirts already have signed with teams in both leagues for the 1965 season.

Although the Southeastern Conference did not concern itself with the Sauer affair, it did vote to sever relations with the AFL because of the league's stand on early signings of college players.

The conference's sports publicity directors, acting at the request of the schools' athletic directors and coaches, passed a resolution stating they will refuse to cooperate with AFL representatives in any way.

An AFL official, however, pointed out Thursday night that the league didn't refuse to stop such signings but contended instead that a meeting of the two leagues with the NCAA was necessary to iron out the situation.

Earlier in the day, Commissioner Foss attacked the practice of redshirting and defended the right of a boy to earn a living as a pro football player, engineer or chemist after four years of college.

Iba Has Sights Set On Winning Big Eight Title

By The Associated Press
Hank Iba, who coached the winning United States basketball team in the Tokyo Olympics, would like nothing better than to win the Big Eight Conference championship with his Oklahoma State Cowboys and become the nation's winningest coach among active college mentors.

The veteran 60-year-old, now in his 36th year of coaching, 31 at Oklahoma State, came within sight of both his goals in college basketball Thursday night.

His Cowboys edged Colorado 59-55 in a three-overtime game at Stillwater to remain at the top of the Big Eight with a 5-0 mark and 12-4 over-all. The victory also was the 712th of his college career, putting him only two behind Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, now the nation's winningest coach.

The Oklahoma State story overshadowed the 14th straight of the fourth-ranked Providence Friars, who edged St. Bonaventure 77-76 to remain the nation's only unbeaten major team.

The once-beaten sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats also won their 14th straight by downing East Carolina 82-68. The eighth-ranked San Francisco Dons, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action were beaten by Arizona 71-56.

Drake edged Tulsa 60-58, Houston nipped Baylor 80-78, New Mexico whipped Texas Western 69-58 and Arkansas overcame Mississippi State 84-69 in other games.

"Winning the conference championship will mean more to me than the Olympics," Iba has said several times. Oklahoma State's victory over Colorado was a giant stride towards that goal.

Two layups by Fred Maulder and Paul Labrue, both on passes from Larry Hawk, won for the Cowboys in the third extra period. The score was tied 26-26 at halftime, 49-49 at the end of regulation time, 51-51 after the first overtime and 53-53 after the second OT.

St. Bonaventure erased a 12-point deficit as the Bonnies just missed handing Providence its first defeat. It took Bill Blair's two free throws in the last 20 seconds of the game at Providence to keep the Friars' slate clean.

Fordham Flash Fastest Human

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Perry, 19-year-old son of a New York janitor, had just equaled the world's indoor record for the 60-yard dash, 5.9 seconds, and was being besieged by reporters.

"It feels good," the Fordham junior said in answer to the inevitable question: "How do you feel?"

"It feels good to be the world's fastest human."

If there was any malice, any small dart aimed at Bob Hayes, it wasn't apparent. Sam said it with a straight face. Hayes, the Florida A&M flash who set the record in New York a year ago and then won the Olympic 100 meters, had proudly worn that title for two years.

Now he's turned pro and off the indoor track circuit, but still very much on young Sam's mind.

"The competition isn't as severe this year," said Perry, who missed the Olympics because of a leg injury. "That makes it tougher on me. There's no one pushing me. I have to push myself. That's tough."

It certainly didn't look tough Thursday night when Perry won the 60 before a crowd of 15,952 watching the Wanamaker-Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden.

The four finalists in the 60 had to sweat out two false starts before they got away. Perry, running against Olympic sprinters Paul Drayton and Mel Pender, and Ed Roberts, got a good start and had a clear-cut lead by 30 yards. He won it by at least a yard and with the victory nailed down the award as the meet's outstanding athlete.

Was he shooting for a 5.9, equaled only by Hayes? "Everytime I go off the blocks I'm leaping at 5.9," he said.

Perry, overshadowed by Hayes for two years and knocked out of the Olympics by his leg trouble, was easily the highlight of a surprisingly so-so meet that opened a three-city, three-meet indoor track weekend.

He's skipping the Telegram-Maple Leaf Games in Toronto tonight, but will be in Boston for the Boston A.A. Games Saturday.

Bill Crothers, the Toronto pharmacist who won the half-mile easily by 10 yards in 1:51.2, is going to make all three. Crothers, unbeaten indoors this winter, said:

"I'm not going for any records now. I'm just running for fun. This was a very comfortable race. If I have to run fast enough for a record, maybe I will, but I didn't have to here."

Duluth Sextet At Marquette This Weekend

MARQUETTE — When the Duluth Hornets invade the Palestra for two battles with the Marquette Iron Rangers this weekend, they will be loaded not only with former University of Minnesota-Duluth hockey stars, but also several boys that have played on the state championship high school team of a few years ago.

The University of Minnesota-Duluth is an independent as far as hockey goes, but they regularly do battle with Michigan Tech, Michigan, Michigan State and Minnesota. In these series they more than hold their own and last year embarrassed the parent University by defeating them twice on the Universities own ice. Duluth long has been a hockey town and all of its high schools ice varsity teams. The hockey interest is so great in the port city that a new multi-million dollar arena is being built. When this building is completed, the Hornets will be competing in the United States Hockey League and will be a welcome addition for all concerned. Presently, they play in the Minnesota Arrowhead league composed of Eveleth, Hibbing, Virginia, Taconite, Grand Rapids and Duluth in Minnesota plus Fort Francis, Ontario. The standings as of now show Duluth leading the league in a very tight race. This league is somewhat like the U. S. League in that they have a limited number of Canadians on the American teams. The chief difference is that the American players on each team are from the towns they play for. This is identical to Marquette's situation, but the other teams in the U. S. League import their Americans, as well as their Canadians.

It all boils down to a very interesting series as not only Marquette fans, but fans the league over look forward to seeing Duluth in the U. S. League and hope their entry can be finalized by next season.

Because there will be no limit on the number of players dressed for each game in this series, the Iron Rangers will have a few more players available than they do for the U. S. League contests. Coach Oakie Brumm said that all players practicing with the Rangers would be on hand for duty and all would see action.

Game time is Saturday night at 8:00 p. m. and Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Tickets are on sale at Richards Sport Shop. Season tickets will not be honored for these games, but season ticket holders have first choice on their seats. If they are not ordered or picked up by Saturday noon however, they will go on sale to the general public. Prices for this game are reserved seats $2, general admission $1.50 and students $1. Sunday afternoon will again be kids day and any child under 12 will be admitted for 50.

Wolf Study On Island Starting

The annual National Park Service and Purdue University study of wildlife activity on Isle Royale will get underway next Monday, Superintendent C. E. Johnson announces.

A team consisting of Dr. Durward Allen and Peter Jordan of Purdue University, pilot Don Murray of Iron Mountain, Minn., and an Isle Royale National Park Ranger will fly from Eleveth, Minn., to the island. The ski-equipped aircraft will be the winter headquarters for the study on the island.

For seven weeks the men will keep track of the main pack of around 20 wolves as they search for moose -- their primary source of food on Isle Royale. Most of the observations will have to be made from Murray's light plane, since wolves frequently travel better than 5 miles per hour for hours at a time across the snow and ice.

So far, from the seven years of Isle Royale wildlife studies under Dr. Allen's direction, it has been learned that the wolves have been keeping the island's moose population at a fairly constant level of 600-700 animals. The wolves cull out the overaged, diseased, or otherwise weakened moose, leaving a much healthier herd as a result. This year the research team hopes to make a more precise count of the moose herd and to learn which parts of the 45-mile long island are supporting the most animals.

Purdue University has had a contract with the National Park Service since 1958 to investigate the predator-prey balance on Isle Royale. The program is scheduled to be completed in 4 years when Dr. Allen intends to publish a book on the park's wildlife. This project is just one of many studies supported by the National Park Service to learn more about wildlife ecology in the nation's wildlands, Johnsons aid.

Cheese Plant At Rapid River Kept In Pooling

Annual report of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn., which handles most of the milk produced in the Upper Peninsula, states that in 1964 MMPA got out of the milk bottling business in the Upper Peninsula by sale of two relatively small bottling operations at Menominee and Crystal Falls to Bancroft Dairy of Marquette.

"The sale of these operations got the Association completely out of the bottling business and allowed steps to be taken to consolidate U. P. operations to bring about savings and efficiencies aimed at putting our marketing facilities in that area on a sounder basis," the report states.

MMPA bought several co-operative dairy plants in the Upper Peninsula several years ago in order to preserve the markets they created for milk produced by MMPA member farmers. Plants at Menominee, Crystal Falls, Daggett and Rapid River were acquired in this program.

The cheese plant at Daggett was closed and its milk diverted to other plants, the bottling at Menominee and Crystal Falls have now been sold to Bancroft and MMPA is now concentrating on its two remaining plants. It announced when it took over the dairy plants that it planned consolidations for efficiencies and that it would develop common product lines for all operations.

The annual report says the Vacationland plant at Crystal Falls will be remodeled and become the main MMPA processing plant in the Upper Peninsula and that the Rapid River cheese factory will remain in operation as "our major cheese plant in the Upper Peninsula."

The Association has become the largest single manufacturer of dairy products in Michigan and one of the largest in the nation. Last year 718 million pounds of members' milk surplus above bottling plant needs were processed by MMPA into the following products: 14.6 million pounds of cottage cheese; 26.8 million pounds of condensed milk, 1.8 million pounds of sour cream; 41 million pounds of dry milk powder, 760,000 pounds of parmesan (Italian) cheese; 16.7 million pounds of butter; 28.1 million pounds of cream, and 1,356,000 pounds of cheddar cheese made in its Upper Peninsula plants. The largest part of this U. P. cheddar was sold to Kraft Cheese Co. and the rest was sold directly under MMPA's Vacationland label, which is used on its production

Trenary Co-op Credit Union Holds Meeting

TRENARY — The Trenary Co-op Federal Credit Union held a business meeting and dinner Sunday, Jan. 24 at the Trenary School.

In a report given, loans to members last year were $88,805.20 and in 1964 loans amounted to $89,494.52. Share savings of members in 1963 were $84,390.74 compared to $97,060.42 in 1964. Interest on loans a year ago was $9,802.08 and $10,159.73 this year. The net earnings for the year, 1964, was $6,600.78.

A dividend of 3.4 per cent was paid to members on savings and a 14 per cent rebate on interest.

Officers who will serve in 1965 are Toivo Niemi, Fred VanHala, Wilho Pylvanen, Leo Pokela and William LaCombe, members of the Board of Directors. Fred VanHala, William Savola and Edward Roberts Sr. are the Credit committee members and James Vrooman, Arnold Hill and Henry Peterson are the Supervisory Committee members. Mrs. Julia VanHala is the secretary for the Supervisory Committee.

St. Jude's Circle of St. Rita's Church served a smorgasbord to 190 members and their families.

Johnson Fights Off Remnants Of 6-Day Cold

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson still is battling remnants of a cold while getting ready to swing back into full stride of official duties.

The President has been taking it fairly easy — easy for him, that is — mixing rest with work.

Thursday he spent most of the morning in bed. But at mid-afternoon he went to his office in the west wing of the White House for five hours' work.

It was the first stint in the office in six days. He hadn't been there since last Friday, when he started coming down with a heavy cold, cough, sore throat and chest pains that got him into the hospital in the small hours of Saturday morning.

Johnson returned to the White House Tuesday but only to the living quarters. While he has been seeing some people now and then and turning out a bit of paper work, he has by no means been as buoyant as he was before the cold.

He still has a bit of cough but no temperature, aides said, and until Thursday afternoon was reported "taking life very easy."

He took it easy Thursday by doing such things as sending a message to Congress urging it to get busy and do something about (1) the problems of possible presidential disability, (2) filling the vacancy when there is no vice president and (3) changing the electoral system to abolish the electoral college but not electoral votes in the states.

Supt. Hager Lists Trenary Honor Students

TRENARY — Supt. George Hager, Mathias Township High School, announces the semester honor roll for those students maintaining a B or better average in all subjects.

Twelfth grade, Murray Blair, Greg Cady, Karen Hager, Cathy Iho, Wayne Lusardi, Gary LaCombe, Marion Hoy, William Sisco, Donald Williams, and Pamela Webber.

Eleventh, Ronda Bucholtz, Ann Finlan, Kristine Hager, Sally Savola, Daniel Wright, and Dennis Ylinen.

Tenth, Margaret LaCombe.

Ninth, Jack Milulich, Bernadine Carlson, Karlene Eaton, Lynn Marlin and Linda Vito.

Jack Milulich, ninth grade, was the only student maintaining all A's for the first semester.

Crash Of Light Plane Fatal To Rochester Man

FREDERIC (AP)—One Michigan man was killed and another injured when their two-seat airplane crashed at the eastern limits of this Crawford County village Thursday night.

State police identified the dead man as Robert L. Furr, of Rochester. They said Frederick J. Romilly, 39, of Warren, was hospitalized for shock.

The officers said they did not know what caused the light plane to crash.

Child Abuse Is Reportable Under New State Law

The machinery is all set across the state for Michigan physicians to report cases of child abuse to the State Welfare Department as required by a new Michigan law.

Explanation of the new state law is offered today by the Michigan State Medical Society, which supported the "abused child act" adopted by the 1964 Legislature.

The law provides for standardized forms to be used by physicians who will report to authorities any case in which they believe a child may have been physically abused by anyone responsible for its care.

The forms will be distributed by the State Welfare Department. Copies of the doctor's report will be sent to the State Welfare Department, the County Welfare Department and the county prosecutor.

Any criminal actions will be the responsibility of the county prosecutor.

Family Room Kitchen

By ANDY LANG

Remember the days when the kitchen was the core of the house — when the family gathered there to eat and to talk and to enjoy life in general?

How would you like to have

H-67 STATISTICS

Design H-67 has a living room, dining room, three bedrooms, two baths and an 18' by 17' family room kitchen for a total of 1534 square feet of living area. In addition, there is a breezeway porch connected to the two-car garage, plus a mud room, laundry and full basement, sectioned into two large recreation — hobby rooms, a larder and a utility room. Over-all dimensions of the house, including the garage, are 82' by 31'.

the kind of kitchen that was large enough and comfortable enough for that kind of living, but in a modern ranch house with gracious styling?

The answer is, "you can." Architect Lester Cohen has designed just such a combination for the House of the Week series. In a three-bedroom, two-bath house, architect Cohen has placed an appropriately named family-room kitchen, 18' by 17', with a full complement of up-to-date appliances, a snack bar divider and an informal area for the family and friends to gather. The entire room can be reached from any part of the house without going through other rooms. It also is immediately accessible from the front foyer — again without crossing other rooms — and has sliding glass doors leading to the rear. It's a sort of house within a house, with the exception of the sleeping quarters. Because so much time will be spent in this section, the entire home will be easier to keep neat and clean with a minimum of housekeeping.

Next to this focal point are a mud room and a laundry just inside the back door. And connected to them is a bath with two sinks, minimizing tracking and permitting quick clean-ups when the youngsters come in from school or play.

The bedrooms are on one side of the family room kitchen, the living room and dining room on the other. The master bedroom, facing the front, has a private bath. There are two closets, one a walk-in. Double windows at the front and another at the side provide cross ventilation. This room is insulated from the rest of the house by closet walls on two sides. The second bedroom also has cross ventilation, while the third has attractive latticed windows for privacy. If this latter room is not needed for sleeping, it can be used as a study or library.

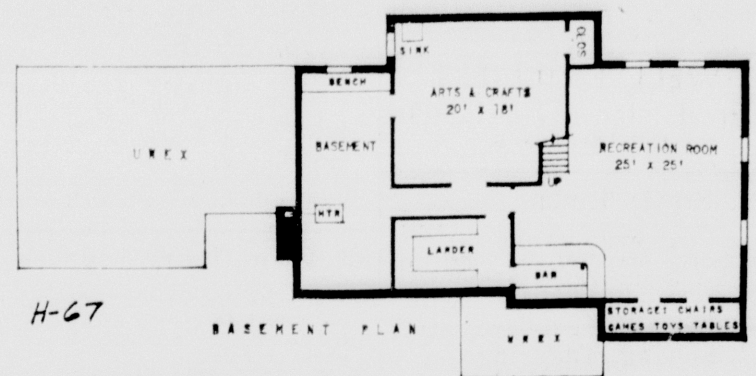

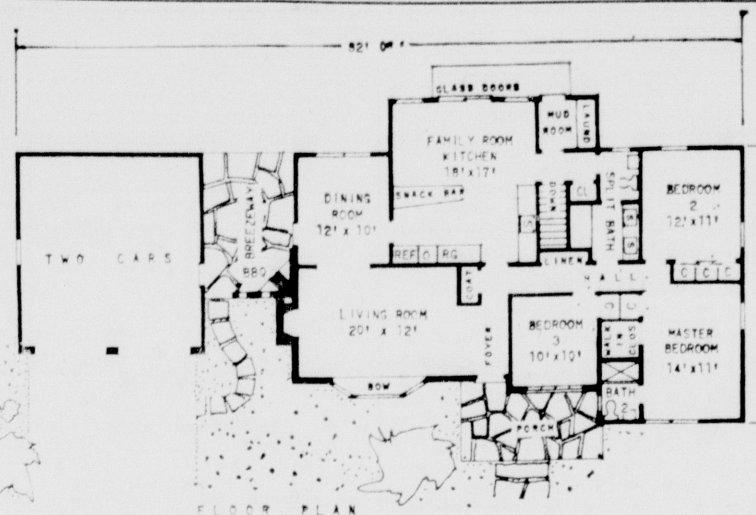

The living room, 20' long, is directly to the left of the foyer. It has a bow window, with a place for plants and bric-a-brac. A fireplace gives a welcoming air to the room, taking it out of the too-formal category.

Next to the living room is the dining room, with a convenient door to a breezeway porch. The breezeway has a barbecue backed up to the living room fireplace for economy and is protected from the street by a latticed stone grillwork. It would make an ideal place for outdoor dining during nice weather. A door leads from the breezeway to the two-car garage.

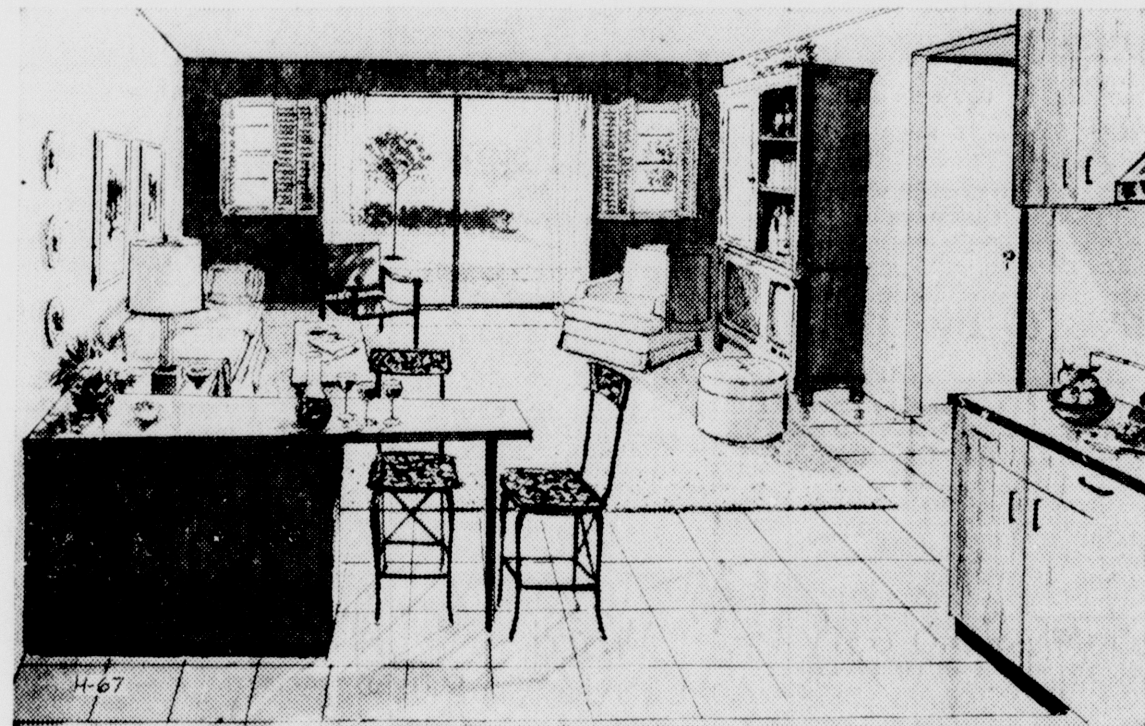

In his basement plan, the architect has made provision for a huge recreation room, a second large room for pursuing hobbies, a refreshment bar, a larder, storage space and a place for the heating plant. The specified living area of 1534 square feet does not include this basement area.

Interesting contrasts are obtained on the outside with a combination of rough stone, brick and siding. It's a modern but not stark house, one that will adapt to any neighborhood.

FLOOR PLANS: Design H-67 features an excellent traffic pattern, with direct access to the large family room kitchen from the front and rear.

UNUSUAL ARRANGEMENT: Snack bar divides appliance area, only part of which is shown, from the inviting informal section of this spacious family room kitchen.

Simple Repairs Stop Squeaks

Squeaking floors are more annoying than they are dangerous. Only occasionally does a noisy floor indicate any structural weakness.

In most cases a few simple repairs will cure the condition. Floors that squeak and groan every time you walk across them indicate loose boards in that location. Possibly the finished flooring has pulled away from the sub-flooring or that the latter has pulled away from the joists — or it could be a combination of both. (The joists are the heavy beams which support the floor. The finished floor boards are generally nailed at right angles to the joists.)

Tighten Loose Boards
The obvious solution is to tighten up the loose boards that are causing the squeak. If the floor is located over an unfinished basement the task is relatively easy.

First locate the offending boards from below. Have someone walk across the floor above while you observe in the basement. Each board should be stepped on. Mark the areas that seem to be giving trouble. Thin wooden wedges driven between the joists and the floor boards will generally end the squeaking. If the noise persists, use a reinforcing block — a piece of 2x4 — nailed to the side of the joist and pressed firmly against the underside of the floor.

There are times when this remedy won't work. There also are instances when you can't get to the floor from below. The procedure is the same in each case — attack the problem from above.

Again, locate the loose boards. Drive a pair of 3-inch finishing nails into the board. Drive each nail in at an angle. Each pair should form a V with the points crossing.

To avoid damaging the floor drill a small hole first, slightly smaller than the nail. Don't drive the nail all the way. The hammer will damage the floor. Drive it in part way, then use a nail set to drive the head below the surface.

If you can, try to drive the nails through the floor and into the joist instead of just into the subfloor.

You can locate the joists by tapping with your fist or with a block of wood and a hammer. The sound will be hollow until you pound directly over a joist. Then it will have a solid sound. You can double-check the location by measuring. Joists are generally installed 16 inches apart.

Fireplace Cook Must Use Care

Fireplace cookery is a new urban and suburban entertainment, especially for breakfast parties. But what dangerous fun.

City and country dwellers, reluctant to part with their outdoor living and barbecue way of life, have latched on to the next best thing, the fireplace barbecue. From apartment terraces, roofs and backyards, portable grills or hastily rigged grids have been moved into the fireplace.

Cooking in a fireplace should be kept to the bare minimum, such as when electricity goes in winter or there is no other fuel for cooking. The danger lies in the grease that accumulates in the fireplace chimney popping and marshmallow toasting are harmless fun. But even a first experiment with fatty foods — bacon, pork chops and sausage — can result in a burned-to-the-ground home.

A group of young people who cooked party food over a fireplace, observing all the precautions, left the house unoccupied with a small fire burning to go out. Result: One lost house.

Many times the fireplace isn't even suspect. A family cooks over the hearth, leaving dying embers in the fireplace as they go away for the week-end. The fire may be listed as of "unknown origin," everyone feeling sure the fire was out when they left.

Grease can accumulate in the chimney over a long period of time, if one has been in the habit of this type of cookery. Then some night with just a small fire, a massive blast can occur. Many a family has managed to smother a sputtering, sparking flame before it led to destruction.

Another terrible danger lurks when people get in the habit of throwing stuff into the fireplace. Young people have the bad habit of discarding papers, boxes and other stuff in a fireplace in hopes of a quick fire when they want one. Then when the time comes to ignite it, they lazily do it, without removing the excess paper.

That habit and using the fireplace to dispose of greenery, such as an old dry Christmas tree or excelsior from packing boxes is especially bad. Every year at the holiday season there are hundreds of fires caused by using the fireplace as a furnace.

One woman disposing of a paper plate full of flour, highly combustible, had her hair singed and eyebrows disappear, when she threw it into the fire. The flareup was so quick, she suffered from shock, also.

Chimneys should be cleaned regularly — about every two years for one that gets moderate use. Even the perfectly built chimney with all fireproof masonry required by community building code is no guarantee against fire if abused. It lessens the chances to be sure, but a fireplace must be used with caution.

A lazy housewife will neglect the fireplace, so that chips, bark and wood residue builds up, creating a fire hazard. Apartment dwellers should remove some ashes and residue from time to time. Most fireplaces in homes have an opening at the bottom for disposal of ashes.

Logs and dry twigs used for kindling should be kept to a minimum when starting a fire, and a fire screen should be used in front of a fireplace when a fire is burning, unless the family is sitting where it can observe hot coals dancing out of the flames.

Major fire damages in the home include some that often get the least consideration and are beyond suspicion. Such insignificant marks of housewifery ineptitude — rubbish in the attic, cellar or closets; paint and oily cloths stuffed in a little space; newspapers piled in unventilated places; empty ashtrays (thought to be dead) in wastepaper baskets — may all result in a lost home.

Public-Parish Schools Share Time In Warren

WARREN (AP) — A parish pastor and Warren's public schools chief look forward to a "shared time" school program to be launched next fall.

St. Anne Roman Catholic parish is building a school for this purpose. Rev. Frank J. Walsh, parish pastor, and Dr. Paul K. Cousino, the public school superintendent, express confidence in their joint project.

Ultimately, 600 high school students here will have use of both the new St. Anne School and two public schools.

Fr. Walsh is to turn the first spadeful of dirt Sunday in a ceremonial start of construction of a two-story cinder-block and glass St. Anne High School. Students will go to St. Anne's for religious instruction and other studies for half a day and to Warren's two public high schools for the other half-day.

The arrangement was worked out by a committee of Catholics and Protestants and approved by the Detroit Archdiocese and Warren's Board of Education. It is designed to avoid a clash with the U.S. Constitution's prohibitions against religious teachings in public schools.

Economy is also a purpose. Fr. Walsh and Supt. Cousino said both the parish and the public schools will be helped.

Warren is a rapidly growing suburb of Detroit. It has financial problems.

Supt. Cousino said his schools "need any help we can get." Fr. Walsh said his parish can't afford a fulltime high school.

Box-Like Room Can Be Bright

AP Newsfeatures

Creative genius is popping out all over the home. The rule of the thumb is the same as in dress fashions and grooming — be different.

The architect gave you rooms like boxes? You don't have to live that way.

Home furnishings manufacturers say you should buckle up your draperies or put an armoire in your bedroom? Not if you don't want to.

Time was when being deferential worried those who had to be — because they couldn't afford to follow the crowd. But now you can put pop fashions in the home and hang your bed from the ceiling, and people will admire your creativity. You can have a great home furnished on a shoestring if you have good taste and imagination.

One indication of how things have changed is evident in store home fashion promotions. In a cosmopolitan city, for example, we see one store promoting a French country style, another going all-out for Mexican, another sticking with the old-time chintz look, big flowers, though deeper colors, and another store using oak lavishly in Tudor, Renaissance and Regency furniture adaptations in 15 of their model rooms.

Box-like rooms are being jazzed up in practically every home with family-wide participation in planning, buying, installing the functional additions necessary for that particular family — alcoves, bookcase, built-in furniture or a second level. Many families develop ideas to the point where they can give intelligently sketched plans to architects, interior designers or materials manufacturers who provide design services.

Character rooms are becoming popular, for example. These can be anything from a rugged Teddy Roosevelt room to a Three B's room for the musically inclined — Bach, Beethoven and Brahms. Funneling ideas into a single field simplifies it. Some people like regional ideas — Western Ranch, Southern Plantation, Hawaiian and so on.

If an artistic student decides to have a Michaelangelo room, for example, where a travertine marble wall would be fitting, panels of Masonite could be substituted. Available at lumber dealers, it can provide a similar appearance at quick-to-install budget prices. There are directions available, too. These and other hardboards provide wide latitude when planning structural changes.

The remodeling of one wall can do wonders in setting a new mood for an old tired room. A new background will make your room look refreshed and give it a touch of individuality if it is creatively planned.

The success of a small project may impel one to a larger project — adding a room or enlarging one. A room may be wanted for billiards or handweaving on a loom or one that all the family can share for play and hobby. One should not become stymied by an idea just because he hasn't seen it done before. It just becomes more intriguing.

When considering a major project, an architect or one experienced in remodeling should be consulted. The counsel of a designer qualified in the utilization of materials may be helpful, and even essential to cut costs. Costs of this service can range from nothing to a small amount. Consultation can often be bought by the day or project if one inquires at local lumber dealers.

Once a project has jelled and specifications for structural materials are listed, the family will be ready to take bids for the work. If it is a do-it-yourself project, all that remains is to contact a building products supplier and present him with a list of your needs.

Sharing food and drink with friends after the ceremony is the most widespread of all marriage customs among all races and cultures, the National Geographic Society says.
